We may share your information with third parties in order to communicate our similar products and/or services.

Who we might share your information with

We may share your personal information with:

- other insurers, reinsurers, business partners, agents or carefully selected third parties providing a service to us on our behalf, such as claims handling and administrative services;
- organisations that have a specific role laid out in law such as statutory bodies and regulatory authorities;
- organisations where we have a duty or are permitted to disclose your information by law;
- fraud prevention agencies and operators of registers available to prevent fraud;
- credit reference agencies to check your credit history
- third parties to recover money you may owe us or to whom we sell your debt;
- other insurers, brokers or intermediaries to whom we decide to sell any specific insurance policies;
- another company, if our business or part of it is bought or taken over by that company;
- Companies when we are trialling their products and services which we consider may improve our services to you;
- Other parties you have given us your permission to do so or there is sufficient reason to believe they are acting on your behalf.

Unless required by law, we would never share your personal data without the appropriate and necessary care and safeguards in place.

Sharing information to prevent fraud

In order to prevent and detect fraud, financial crime and anti-money laundering we may:

- collect personal information about you from databases as described and from publicly available sources;
- check your personal information against databases;
- share and check your personal information with fraud prevention agencies. If false or inaccurate information is provided and fraud is identified, details will be passed to the fraud prevention agency. This information will be accessed and used by us, law enforcement agencies and other organisations to prevent fraud and money laundering. Other organisations may search the databases held by these fraud prevention agencies when you make an application to them for financial products. The information we share may be used by those companies when making decisions about you. We and other organisations may access and use, from other countries, the information recorded by fraud prevention agencies;
- share your personal information with operators or registers available to the insurance industry to check information you provide. These include the Insurance Fraud Bureau, Claims and Underwriting Exchange Register and Motor Insurance Anti-Fraud and Theft Register. We may pass information relating to your insurance policy and any incident to the operators of these registers, their agents and suppliers;

We will use any personal information obtained about you, or anyone you have provided us information about, to carry out the above profiling activity as part of our investigations into fraudulent behaviour. Should fraud be identified as a result of such profiling activity, this could result in the rejection of an application for insurance, a claim and/or voidance of your policy.

How we communicate with you about our similar products or services

We will contact you, in order to communicate our products and/or services to you which we believe may be of interest to you and which relate to your general insurance needs. You can ask us to stop sending you marketing messages by contacting us at any time.

Storage of your information

The personal information we and our carefully selected third parties collect from you may be transferred to, stored and processed outside the European Economic Area (EEA). We or our service providers may use cloud based computer systems (i.e. network of remote servers hosted on the internet which process and store your information) to which foreign law enforcement agencies may have the power to require access. We will not transfer your information outside the EEA unless it was to a country our information regulator has assessed as having adequate data protection laws, or we had taken all reasonable steps to ensure the firm has the necessary privacy and security controls in place to protect your information as if it were in the EEA. Our contracts with these firms will detail the necessary requirements to ensure your information is protected. We will assess these firm's security arrangements from time to time ensuring that they are only using your information as agreed. Should you wish to obtain further information about the safeguards we have in place, please contact the Data Protection Officer.

Retention of your personal information

We will keep your information for as long as you are a customer. After you stop being a customer we may keep your data for up to 10 years for one of these reasons:

- To respond to any questions or complaints.
- To show that we treated you fairly.
- To maintain records according to rules that apply to us.

We may keep your data for longer than 10 years if we cannot delete it for legal, regulatory or technical reasons for example if there has been a claim involving a minor.

Your rights

You have a number of rights concerning the personal information we use, these include the right to:

- ask for access to and a copy of your personal information;
- ask us to correct or delete the personal information;
- ask us to restrict or object to the use of your personal information;
- where you have previously given us your permission to use your personal information, withdraw that permission. Where your permission is withdrawn, your previous consent will remain valid in respect of our use of your information prior to the date you withdrew it, or if any marketing material has been sent prior to you advising that you do not wish us to contact you again;
- complain to the Information Commissioner's Office at any time if you object to the way we use your personal information. For more information please go to www.ico.org.uk;
- object to an automated decision including profiling.

To discuss your rights or make a request, please contact the Data Protection Officer.

Please note that in some cases even when you make a request concerning your personal information, we may not be required, or may not be able, to honour it as this may result in us not being able to fulfil our legal and regulatory obligations or there is a minimum statutory period of time for which we have to keep your information. If this is the case then we will let you know our reasons.

Changes to your information

Your privacy is very important to us. We promise to respect and protect your personal information and try to make sure that your details are accurate and kept up to date. You can help us do this by letting us know whenever your personal details change.

Dealing with others on your behalf

To help you manage your insurance policy, subjecting to passing security questions, we will deal with you or your husband, wife, partner or civil partner or any other person whom we reasonably believe to be acting for you if they call us on your behalf in connection with your policy.

For your protection, only you can cancel your policy or change the contact address.
